

A group of five children are standing outdoors in a grassy area, possibly a park or schoolyard. They are holding hands and a long, blue streamer that is attached to a tree branch. The children are dressed in colorful winter clothing, including jackets and hats. In the background, there are trees, a fence, and a house with a red roof. The scene is brightly lit, suggesting a sunny day.